Alpha Gamma Delta Selects 2017-2018 Leadership Consultants to Join International Headquarters Staff

(INDIANAPOLIS) Alpha Gamma Delta International Fraternity has selected 14 women to be part of the 2017-2018 Leadership Consultant Team. They will travel for nine months throughout the United States and Canada to support individual Alpha Gamma Delta collegiate chapters and the Fraternity's extension efforts. First-year members of the Leadership Consultant Team include Adriana Castille, Theta Mu- University of North Carolina-Wilmington; Catie Witt, Beta Iota-Eastern Illinois University; Emily Diehl, Xi- Illinois Wesleyan University; Emily Scott, Theta Omega- University of South Carolina; Lauren Wenzinger, Phi- Oregon State University; Lilly Bocquin, Upsilon- University of Oklahoma; Mariah Ritter, Epsilon Upsilon- Tarleton State University; Morgan Schimp, Gamma Beta- Florida State University; Neena John, Gamma Omega- University of Alabama at Birmingham; Sarah Bullat, Delta Eta- San Diego State University; Sarah Cowger, Beta Iota-Eastern Illinois University; Sophia Baur-Waisbord, Alpha Beta- University of Michigan; Suzanne Garner, Gamma Phi- Georgia Institute of Technology and Sydney Patrick, Upsilon- University of Oklahoma.

The Leadership Consultant Team is trained to support and challenge our chapters to create a meaningful membership experience as they serve as mobile educators and brand ambassadors. Their role is to connect collegiate chapters with the multitude of available resources, promote the latest initiatives of the Fraternity and educate members on a variety of leadership topics.

These women were chosen after a comprehensive selection process including a weekend of interviews and meetings with members of International Council and International Headquarters staff.

"This is an exceptional group of women joining our staff team as Leadership Consultants for the 2017-2018 academic year," said Wendy Bright Faust, Executive Director at Alpha Gamma Delta. "They are distinguished and talented, and we are excited to have them travel on behalf of the Fraternity. I am confident they will make a significant impact on our members and our chapters!"
